The projected 5-year budget demonstrates budget deficit elimination by 2012. The justification is seen, in part, in the chart above depicting historical revenue trends. We anticipate the increasing trend to become even more pronounced as regional pricing changes continue to result in additional septage volumes coming to Livingston County. The trend is not apparent in the data, as these changes have only occurred in the past several weeks. However, we are seeing immediate and significant volume and revenue increases that we expect to continue for the foreseeable future.
